PREFACE

The Fifth Population and Housing Census, due in March 1991, was conducted in March 1998 i.e. after a lapse of 7 years from its due date. The entire country was covered from 2-18 March 1998 including Federally Administered Tribal Areas, Northern Areas and Azad Kashmir. During the first three days i.e. from 2nd to 4th March housing units were physically numbered and registered as an inventory for conduct of the census from 5th to 18th March. The inventory also served as a guideline for the supervisors besides ensuring coverage of left out housing units, of listing operation, during the census operation.

Name, age, sex, marital status, educational attainment, relationship with the head of the household, nationality, religion, mother tongue, literacy and possession of National Identity Card were the population topics. Whereas number of households, tenure, period when constructed, construction material of walls and roofs and source of drinking water-inside or outside, source of light, fuels used, type of kitchen, bathroom and toilet facilities and watching of TV, listening to radio and reading of newspapers were the housing units topics. Besides core questions about migration alongwith its reasons, economically active population, fertility, field of education, disability and inoculation of children against 6 diseases were asked about all persons on sample basis.

There were 3 questionnaires designed for registration of housing units and collection of information on population and housing characteristics. Form-1 (Annex-A) was used for registration of housing units. Form-2 i.e. short form (Annex-B) was used for collection of information about all persons on core questions pointed out in the foregoing paragraph. While remaining topics were inquired on sample basis and Form 2-A i.e. long form (Annex-C) was used. Necessary definitions and concepts relating to the above mentioned questionnaires/forms are given at (Annex-D) for information of our readers.

About 8 per cent single stage stratified sample was drawn with slightly more representation given to small provinces, districts and urban areas to make it a representative sample.

The report consists of five parts viz(I) Write up which carries some general description of the district, (II) Broad analysis of population census data, (III) Broad analysis of housing census data, (IV) comprises statistical tables while part(V) provides additional information about part I to IV in the form of annexures.

The general description covers location, boundaries, area, geography, climate, rainfall, ethnicity, administrative set-up, agriculture, flora and fauna, health, industries, communication system, infra structure, besides introducing the district. The main findings on population characteristics deal with population size, growth and distribution; sex, age and marital status composition; literacy and educational attainment; economic activities, migration, mother tongue, fertility, disability, possession of National Identity Card, inoculation of children against six diseases and homeless population. Whereas main findings on housing characteristics throw light on housing units/households, information on number of rooms,including population density per housing unit and per room,tenure,period since constructed, construction material used on walls and roofs, source of drinking water,source of light,cooking fuel used in kitchen, availability of kitchen,toilet and bathroom facilities and source of information etc.

Efforts have been made to provide maximum but meaningful data amenable to possible statistical analysis useful for planners, researchers and other users from grass roots to national level. The report comprises 52 tables in all, of which 38 relate to population characteristics, 12 to housing characteristics while two deal with some housing as well as population characteristics. Of 52 tables 27 are based on complete count information while remaining on sample count information. Because of space problem the tables on occupation and industries are in coded form. Therefore, after mentioning occupation and industries in coded form on the tables the details of occupational and industrial groups are appended at Annex-E&F respectively.

Census taking was a gigantic task which involved a large field force drawn from Provincial Government Departments mainly for which active cooperation of concerned officials/officers was highly essential. This report will remain incomplete without acknowledging the efforts made by the field staff, armed forces Jawans and the cooperation extended by their officers especially the Chief Secretary, Punjab and Headquarters Army Air Defence Command Rawalpindi. The credit also goes to officers of Statistics Division and Federal Bureau of Statistics for rendering administrative and technical support. I am personally indebted to the Government who encouraged to conduct the census in March, 1998 and later showed keen interest taken in releasing the data as early as possible for the benefits of all users. I also thank the donor agencies like UNFPA, UNDP and UNICEF for providing financial assistance in acquiring equipment/machinery and technical support for the conduct of census. It would not be justified to release this report without acknowledging the efforts made by the technical staff of Population Census Organization, in providing technical guidelines, the management services given by the administration, the services support rendered by the secretariat staff.

Despite making the best efforts in producing quality output I believe that there is great room for improvement, therefore, constructive comments/suggestions from all concerned are welcome.

(KAMRAN ZAFAR)
Chief Census Commissioner

PART - I
GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE DISTRICT

1 GENERAL DESCRIPTION OF THE DISTRICT

1.1 INTRODUCTION

Rahim Yar Khan district was declared as a separate administration district in 1943. The district derives its name from its headquarters Rahim Yar Khan. The previous name of this district was Naushehra which was built in 1875 A.D by Fazal Elahi Halani on the ruins of the ancient Pul-Wadda during the Sumra supremacy in Sindh. In the year 1881, the Railway Authorities desired to change the name of a railway station in the name of a town called Nowshera situated in Peshawar district. Consequently in 1881 to avoid any confusion because of similar nomenclature Nawab Sadiq Khan-IV of Bahawalpur also changed the name of the sub-division Naushehra after the name of his first son Rahim Yar Khan.

1.2 LOCATION

The district lies between 27° -40' to 29° -16' north latitudes and 60° -45' to 70° -01' east longitudes.

1.3 BOUNDARIES

Rahim Yar Khan is bounded on the north by Muzaffargarh district, on the east by Bahawalpur district, on the south by Jasilmir (India) and Ghotki district of Sindh province and on the west by Rajanpur district.

1.4 AREA

The total area of the district is 11,880 square kilometres. The district comprises four Tehsils namely Rahim Yar Khan, Sadiqabad, Liaquatpur and Khanpur. There are three municipal committees and five town committees in the district.

1.5 PHYSICAL FEATURES AND TOPOGRAPHY

This district is divided into three main physical features i.e. (a) Riverine area, (b) Canal irrigated area and (c) Desert area which is called Cholistan. The Riverine area of the district lies close on the southern side of the Indus river mainly falling in the river bed. The Canal irrigated area lies on the south and is separated by main Minchan Bund. The approximate height of the irrigated area is 150 to 200 metres above the sea level. The third part of the area called Cholistan lies in the south of the irrigated tract upto the Indo-Pak border. The surface of the desert consists of a succession of sand dunes rising at places to a height of 150 metres and covered with the vegetation peculiar to sandy tracts.

1.6 FLORA

The flora of the district characterizes two major ecological divisions, northern and southern. The botanical life found in the northern half identifies itself with that of the rest of the irrigated tracts at central Punjab. The human interference in the form of irrigation network has virtually wiped out the old plantation without much revolutionization of the phytophysiography in the area. While there had been a considerable increase in the cultivated area, factors such as waterlogging and salinity have badly hit plant life and with the increase of salinity at the surface, only the salt resistant plants can survive in most of the area. The southern half is characterized by sand dunes, more or less barren of vegetation except in the rainy season when multitudes of ephemeral or short lived plants come up and transform the bare land into a lush green carpet. These ephemerals complete their life-cycle before the advent of summer heat when the bulk of the area reverts to sandy plain, desolate and barren. In general, the vegetation in this part of the arid region is sparse. Only plants with xerophytic adaptations such as deep roots, dry, hand and rod-like thick or fleshy stems, leaves either absent or much reduced, though usually with a coating of wax or hair to prevent excessive transpiration, are able to establish themselves in this extremely dry climate. The bulk of the vegetation consists of stunted, thorny or prickly shrubs and perennial herbs capable of withstanding drought which grow in open clump formation with plenty of vacant spaces between them. Distinctly scattered trees of stunted growth are found along the depressions technically known as desert scrub.

Plants found in Cholistan are as under:

1) Phatokar: Cholistan aborigines use its puddings for (halva) the removal of worms from the alimentary tract.

2) Katran: A shrub with aromatic leaves (fragrance). Its ark is used for asthma and the Sharbat is given to patients suffering from prolonged fever.

3) Chapri: Cholistanis consider it as a Soghat. It is used in rheumatic pain and as diuretic. It is believed to increase sexual potency.

4) Barem Dandi: It is a medicinal plant, particularly useful in liver trouble.

5) Gor Gopan: It is considered as a Thandi Booti. It is used in liver trouble. Some take it as substitute of tea.

6) Bo Phali: Cholistanis take it for the cure of urinary tract troubles.

7) Rat Sat: It is believed that this weed contains ingredients of certain minerals. Chemists are generally found interested in this plant, perhaps due to some minerals of medicinal significance.

8) Phali: Indian bustard's favourite food (seeds), also eaten by camels.

9) Olatee: Seeds eaten by desert partridges.

10) Phag: The flower is cooked as pot herb (Sag) and tastes like eggs.

11) Khip: It is being tried as a substitute of jute; its seeds are considered to be a rich source of fat.

12) Pelu: The fat from Pelu seeds is being studied for its utilization in soap making.

13) Boara: Gum is extracted from this plant.

14) Pepoon: It is a fungus which grows on decaying roots of capperis and is eaten as a vegetable. Chatni is also prepared from it.

15) Agaricus: (Khumbi) This fungus is also cooked and taken as food.

16) Monyan: Serves as fodder for animals.

1.7 FAUNA

An unblemished geographical feature of a vast arid land, popularly known as Cholistan desert provides an ideal opportunity for a variety of wild-life. A wild cat still exists in the area which as the desert traditions say, is very fond of ripping apart the newly born young ones of Chinkara deer. Pig known as Hirhoon, Jitama, Bhoondin or Soor in this area is found in a fairly large number in government plantation near the desert. Jackal (Geeder), fox (Loomeri), badger (Bijjoo), also exist in the desert. Wolf locally known as Mahr is negligible now. Porcupine (Seh), squirrel (Golhari Fubhri) and jerbils musk rat (Chhachhoondar), wild rat (Chooha) of brownish colour mongoose (Neola), are generally visible. Mangoose has half a dozen of varieties in this area. Though small, it readily attack much larger animals and wins a blitz kriegespiel victory. It kills large number of poisonous snakes and rodents and its fur is erected like a bottle brush, when it engages a snake combined with very fast movements, in the combat. A duel between mongoose and cobra used to be a familiar attraction in village festivities generating enthusiasm of no less than a bull fighting.

Some of the animals such as hog deer (Parha), blue bull (Neel Gaee) and ravine deer (Heron) are more or less non-existent now and are rarely witnessed across the Indian borders. Black buck, once a beauty of the desert has been totally eliminated. Chinkara deer is, however, not a rarity. Its existence is more or less due to severe restriction imposed on shooting. It has timid beautiful eyes, quivering nostrils and needle fine legs. It is a fine specimen of antelopes, though not as original as the black buck, commonly known as Ghazaal. Its beautiful eyes, matches with those of the beloved, find mention in Urdu, Arabic and Persian poetry.

Black crow, sparrow and dove are numerously common as in other parts of Punjab. Green parrots are also found and generally damage the crops. Myna is however a useful bird for cultivators. It normally and naturally feeds on pests. Lark is another bird which charmingly chats in the early morning hours. Owl has also established its existence in the specific types such as Chibri and Ghug. Falcons here are of various species known as Baz, Shikra and Shaheen etc. Tanny eagle, spotted eagle, bonelli's eagle, lagger eagle, white and black vultures, mash harrier and kestrel are generally spotted in the area. Falcon used for hunting the bustard is especially trained for this purpose. It is caught hold of at tender age, through interesting indigenous methods which are other wise banned under the law protecting the wild life.

Some rulers of Middle East has tremendous fascination for falcons of this desert, which are very fast in combat but impatient to rip the prey apart. Some of them come to Rahim Yar Khan district each winter so as to hunt birds in a very masterly manner with hawks. Houbara bustard and little bustard are their favourite birds. Bustard usually arrives in October and it is bigger than falcon in size. While ultimately the falcon succeeds in humbling it nevertheless gives a good fight with its power packed wings. It is also fond of walking for kilometress on the sand with its powerful strides and has erect like a Turkey from one patch of stunted thorn to another. Great Indian bustard is now very rare and almost extinct.

Sand grouse and the imperial sand grouse are enriched with their embellishing attraction for the hunters. A little earlier it was assumed that these birds are also migratory creatures who visit the desert during the winter season. But this assumption has to be discarded because the sand grouse known as Kashmira is a native bird and lives in the desert all through the year. Another significant migratory bird is posture nosi, known as Tilyar in the local dialect. The bird is normally nine inches long resembling the ordinary Myna . It has dark gray features and glistening head. These birds are gregarious. In general they pay their sojourn in this district as a whole in summer season when the stray locust fly over. This bird perishes pests as being considerably helpful to the cultivators. The flock of such birds normally ranges from 10 to 100. Gray partridges are mainly found in the tracts when patches of cultivations are surrounded by sandy waste ground. Similarly typical black partridge is also found in the thick ground cover and is reputed for its wondrous creaking call. Quails are also available in the district.

Wild lizards are witnessed here in a number of species including Goh, Kirli and Kirla. Another species is locally called Gohira and yet another Sanda. The latter is poisonous. Cobra (Phinyar) is comprehensively believed by locals to be found in the varying shades. A very deadly poisonous snake Padam is also found in the district as the local saying goes "Jen Ko Dangia Padam, Chalan Na Ditha Qadam", (he whom Padam has bitten, will not go another step). Lizards have various legends behind them. About Khanni lizard, it is said that it does not reproduce its kind by copulation and is born of snake. Another lizard Gilai if seen by a women during a chum will cause the quantity of butter to increase. The Wains snake on the other hand steals milk by climbing up the buffalo's leg and sucking its udder. The deady Ghordang moves faster than a galloping horse. While the Kulsar has the power of conveying its poison to its human assailant merely by bitting his stick. Sah-peena according to a legand, never bites in day light, it crawls into the victims breath at night and kills him with its breath.

White egrets, little egrets and black wing stilts are common and feed on insects and fish. These are usually seen when fields are watered. These also flock along the depressions containing percolated or rainy water. Once in plenty, these are still available in and around Dhand Gagri and Tatar Jheels. Here one also finds wild fowls, pheasants, tailed jaconas, mullards, teals and berons, while green bee eaters are found on the isolated reeds. Machira as it is locally known (Alcodoatus pallasi) lives near lakes and ponds in the area. Common ducks of various sizes and shades are found in the river side lakes. A black water fowl (Kawani) is also available in the Indus and near Punjnad river, lakes and creeks. Some of the migratory ducks have also been witnessed in the natural lakes formed after floods. Koonj, a migratory bird, also lands on the banks of the river and side ponds. Amphibians generally include only frogs and toads.

Over 40 varieties of fishes are found in the district. Rahu, Thaila, Mori, Mullee, Khaga and Sanghara are however found in abundance in river, canals and ponds.

1.8 CLIMATE

1.8.1 Weather

The climate of the district is hot and dry in the summer and cold and dry in the winter. The summer season is comparatively longer. It starts in April and continues till October. The winter season goes from November to March. However, the months of March and November are pleasant. Dust storms are frequent during summer season. The average rain fall is about 100millimetres. Following table shows mean minimum and maximum temperature, precipitation and relative humidity:

1.9 ETHNIC STRUCTURE AND HISTORY

1.9.1 History

When Alexander gained victory over Multan, he appointed General Phillipos to rule Multan and Uch and advanced himself towards Alor. The country remained under Phillipos, who was afterwards driven out by Poros after the death of Alexander. This part of the country is also said to have been a part of the Buddhist empire of Ashoka. Authenticated history of the district begins by about 493 A.D. when Raja Divaji of Rai dynasty came to the throne. In the Rai dynasty dominions were vast, extending from Kashmir and Kanauj to Kandhar and Seistan and on the west to Mekran and a part of Debal, while on the south to Surat. Their capital was Alor and during their rule Sindh was divided into four provinces of Bahmanabad, Siwistan, Chachpur (which comprised the greater part of Bahawalpur Division) and the province consisting of Multan and West Punjab. The Rai dynasty governed Sindh for 137 years and met its fate when the king Rai Sahasi II, allowed a Brahman Chach to gain influence in his kingdom. On the death of Rai Sahasi II, Chach married his widow and established himself on the throne after killing the rightful heir of the Rai. After a reign of 33 years, Chach died and was succeeded by his brother Chandar who after ruling for eight years was succeeded by his nephew Raja Dahir. During Dahir's reign some Arab ships carrying merchandise were attacked and plundered by his subjects. Arabs demanded compensation and on refusal by Raja Dahir, Muhammad Bin Qasim invaded this area in April 712 A.D. and conquered the whole territory upto Multan. Dahir was killed in the battle at Pawar. The territory remained under the various governors appointed by the Abbassides and the Ummayyids from 712-870 A.D. In 871 A.D. the power of Caliphs declined and the province of Sindh slipped from their control and went under the Balkh dynasty when two principalities, Multan and Mansura (Bahawalpur Division) were founded. In 985 A.D. the Balkh ruler was over-thrown by Karamatian (a Persian sect). In 978 A.D. when Subaktagin invaded the sub-continent, he left the territory under the sovereignty of Hamid Khan Lodhi, who ruled till 1004 A.D. when Abdul Fateh son of Hamid Khan Lodhi revolted against Ghaznavids and was jailed by Mahmud Ghaznavi. Fourteen years later Mahmud again visited Multan and marched to Somnath passing through Bahawalpur territory and on his way visited Moujgarh Fort (in Bahawalpur Tehsil). On his return from the conquest of Somnath, Mahmud placed a Karamatian prince on the throne in this area. The reign of Karamatian was followed by Sumaras and Samas who ruled it for nearly 500 years. In 1578 A.D., the territory was invaded and conquered by the Ghori Sultans of Delhi, who were succeeded by the Mughals.

The exodus of the Abbassides nobles of Egypt to India had already started in the reign of Muhammad Taughlak-Bin-Ghiasuddin. This Tughlak emperor of India recognised the Abbassides Caliph, Abdul Abbas-Al-Hakim in Egypt and accepted his spiritual leadership. He even got the name of the caliph inscribed on the Indian coinage of his reign.

In 1366 A.D. Amir Sultan Ahmed II, Abbasi, fiftieth direct descendant from Abdul Qasim Ahmed (the first Abbasside Caliph ruled in Egypt) migrated to India with his family and a few hundred of followers entered into Sindh through Balochistan and settled down in Sindh. Those Arabs who had already settled in Sindh rallied round the Amir. In the course of time the Amir's family gradually moved north-ward losing much of the Sindh territory, but finally settled down at Fort Derawar, which they captured from the ruler of Jaisalmir.

In 1540, Duddees a well-known tribe rose to considerable power in the eastern part of Bahawalpur. In the same period, Amir Channi Khan Abbasi was made Ranjhazari by Prince Murad, the son of emperor Akbar the Great. After the death of Amir Mohammad Channi Khan, quarrels arose between the two sections of Abbasis, the Kalhora and Daudpota tribes. The Arab tribes settled in Bahawalpur sided with the latter who were destined to create and rule Bahawalpur State. Amir Bahadur Khan Abbasi, the chief of Daudpota then came to power he and his descendants wielded small principalities of Bahawalpur State into a united kingdom. Amir Muhammad Mubarik Khan I, Abbasi, who came to power in 1702, was an able commander and leader. Throughout his reign he had to fight many battles against Kalhoras. He abdicated in 1723 A.D., in favour of his son Sadiq Mohammad Khan I. Sadiq Mohammad Khan I (1723-1746) was killed in a battle with Khuda Yar Khan Kalhora. Amir Mohammad Bahawal Khan I, (1746-1949) ascended the throne in 1746. During his short rule, he built the towns of Bahawalpur, Qaimpur, Hasilpur, Tranda Ali Murad Khan, Shahbazpur and Mohammadpur Laman. During his reign three canals namely Khan Wah, Qutab Wah and Wahi Qaidr Dina were dug. As a result the agriculture of the state improved considerably and the people became prosperous. Amir Muhammad Mubarik Khan II Abbasi (1749-1772) succeeded Amir Muhammad Bahawal Khan I Abbasi. In 1750, he captured Marot, Jaisalmir and Madwala and its dependencies west of the Sutlej and Panjnad, now part of Muzaffargarh district from Nahrs. Bet Doma territory which belonged to Makhdum Sheikh Raju of Sitpur was also conquered. Later a part of the country including the important towns of Dunyapur and Kahror were occupied. In 1766, the Sikh confederates Jhanda Singh, Ganda Singh and Hari Singh invaded the Amir's trans-Sutlej territories but were repulsed. Pakpattan was fixed as the boundary between Bahawalpur and the Sikh State. Amir Muhammad Mubarik Khan II Abbasi was an able administrator and a powerful ruler. He took keen interest in building his army. Many of the forts on the border of the state were built during his reign. He kept the Sikhs in check. Many canals on which the prosperity of the district depend were constructed during his time.

Amir Muhammad Bahawal Khan II, Abbasi succeeded him and ruled from 1772 to 1809 A.D. He assumed the title of Muhammad Bahawal Khan II. In 1777, the Sikh captured Multan. From 1785 to 1788, Amir had to encounter Taimur Shah, the powerful Durrani monarch of Kabul. Bahawalpur was plundered by Durranis, the town was burnt and destroyed. The fort of Derawar was also occupied and Taimur Shah garrisoned it with troops under his general Shah Muhammad Khan Badozai, but eventually the Amir drove out the Durranis after fighting many fierce battles. In 1802 Shah Muhammad of Kabul sent a valuable Khilat and title of Mukhlis-ud-Daula. A mint was started at Bahawalpur in 1802, where gold, silver and copper coins were made. The first treaty between Bahawalpur and the British government was affected in 1833 which remained in force till the 14th August, 1947 when the state acceded to Pakistan. After Muhammad Bahawal Khan II, prince Abdullah Khan under the title of Sadiq Muhammad Khan II (1809-1825) was proclaimed Amir of Bahawalpur. The greater part of his reign passed in repelling the attacks of the Amirs of Sindh, in suppressing the rebellions of his own Umaras and protecting his conquered territories.

On the death of Amir Sadiq Mohammad Khan II in 1825 A.D., Amir Bahawal Khan III ascended the throne in 1825 at Derawar. He ruled from 1825-1852 A.D. On his accession to the throne Amir sent presents to Maharaja Ranjit Singh. In response Maharaja sent his congratulations and some presents to Amir.

As some dues for the lease of Dera Ghazi Khan had not been paid for several years, Ranjit Singh sent a force under General Ventura to expel the governor appointed there by the Amir of Bahawalpur without giving him any opportunity for parley. General Ventura occupied Dera Ghazi Khan, Muzaffargarh and Multan, and they thus passed from the rule of the state. The Amir was very upset at this loss. Alliances with the neighbouring states Sindh, Bikanir or Jaisalmir were out of question for they were already hostile to Bahawalpur.

Ranjit Singh sent a large force under Sham Singh Atariwala to Kahror to invade the state on any pretext. There upon the Amir sent an envoy to the British Governor General at Simla to invoke his intervention. Lord William Bentinck, the then British Governor General, accepted the proposal and Ranjit Singh was warned not to cross the Sutlej. In 1833 Nawab negotiated a treaty of friendship and alliance with the Britishers.

In 1842 Parganas of Kot Sabzal and Ghung Bhara lost by the state in 1807, were conquered by the British from the Mirs of Sindh and resorted to Bahawalpur state by Sr. Charles Napier. In 1848 the Amir of Bahawalpur assisted the British in the battle of Multan. As a result of Bahawalpur British alliance Multan fell and was made part of the British Indian territory.

On the death of Amir Bahawal Khan III, Sadiq Mohammad Khan III, (1852-1853) was crowned as Amir. On assuming rulership he confined prince Haji Khan and his brothers and treated them harshly. A large number of Bahawalpur army was demobilised. All the grants, rights and claims of Daudpotas and other usual expenses were diminished and abolished. These events made the Amir unpopular. On the 29th of Rabi-ul-Sani, 1269 A.H, Fateh Garh Fort was attacked at night. Prince Haji Khan, who was kept as prisoner, was freed and brought to Khanpur. Haji Khan entered Ahmedpur East without any resistance and Sadiq Muhammad

Khan III was imprisoned. Prince Haji Khan who assumed the title of Fateh Khan ruled the state from 1853 to 1858 A.D. Prince Rahim Yar Khan succeeded his father, the late Amir Fateh Khan Abbasi, as Muhammad Bahawal Khan IV (1858-1866). He was poisoned and died on the 25th March, 1866. On the death of Amir Bahawal Khan IV, Sir Sadiq Muhammad Khan IV was crowned when he was four and half year old. He was installed in 1879, when he attained maturity. In the interim period from 1866 to 1879, the state was supervised by British Officers. Amir Muhammad Bahawal Khan V, the next successor was about 16 years of age at the time of his father's death in 1907. Amir Sadiq Mohammad Khan Abbasi V (1907-1955), was proclaimed Amir of Bahawalpur on the death of his father in 1907. He was then a child of three years old. He ruled the state till 1955 when it was integrated in the Punjab province of Pakistan.

1.9.2 Races and Tribes

The major tribes in the colony area are the Arain, Jat, Rajput and Gujjar. They have all come from the adjoining districts of East and West Punjab. The old settlers are the Joya, Wattoo, Daudpota, Baloch, Syed and Pathan. In Cholistan area the Bohar, Lark, Bhen, Dahar, Joya, Mehra and Kakar are inhabited. The Syeds are the descendants of the Arabs, who came from Arabia to preach Islam. The Jats and Rajputs came from Rajputana and Jaisalmir and converted to Islam in the reign of Feroz Shah Tughlak.

1.10 DRAINAGE

1.10.1 Rivers and Lakes

The Indus flows on the northern outskirts of the district and forms a boundary with the districts of Dera Ghazi Khan and Muzaffargarh. There is no other river, Nullah or lake in this district.

1.11 CULTURE

1.11.1 Dress and Ornaments

The common attire in the rural area for the male is a long loose shirt (Kurta/Chola) hanging upto the knees, made of coarse cloth, a Chaddar and a Pagri. In the urban areas, Shalwar Kurta is the common dress. The dress of the female in the rural area is Chola or Kurta, Shalwar and a Dopatta. In the Cholistan area, the women generally wear short shirts and Ghagra and Dopatta. People use cheap and coarse cloth for dresses.

For footwear, men in the rural areas wear locally made shoes prepared by the village cobbler (Mochi). The women of this area are very fond of wearing ornaments, both golden and silver. The kind of ornaments generally worn are as under:

Tikka, Jhoomar, Patrian with chains, Mathey Dawri, clip and Sooian for head.

Popa, Nug, Boola, Koka, Bensair, Nath and Laung for nose.

1.11.2 Food Habits

Wheat is the staple food grains of this area. Bajra or maize is also used in the villages in lieu of wheat. People in the rural area mostly consume vegetables, pulses, milk, butter and ghee. The inhabitants ordinarily take meals thrice a day. The first is in the morning, before leaving for work on the fields and consists of wheat bread with Lassi (curd mixed with water), curd, milk and butter. The mid day meal is invariably taken at the site of work, comprising wheat bread with Lassi, onions, chillies, pickles and seldom with cooked vegetables and meat. While the evening meal is taken at home on return or in the fields after the day's work and generally comprises wheat bread with vegetables, beef or mutton and in the summers with milk.

Vegetables are consumed generally in winter when turnips, radish and mustard are plentiful. Sag (pot herb) and Dal are commonly used in supper. Chopri Roti (bread smeared with Ghee or butter) is given to the working male members of the family and the women folk rarely enjoy this buttered bread. Addition of Gur or sugar makes it of surpassing richness and as the saying goes "Jo Kare Shakkar Te Ghee Na Kare Maan Te Na Kare Peo" (what sugar and Ghee can do is not even done by the parents). In riverain and non-perennial areas of the west, toast is offered with the gesture "Mani, Machhli Hazir Hey" (loaves and fish are ready), presumably due to the fact that fish was more abundantly available in the north in the past. Tobacco is commonly puffed by the cultivators. Dates and mangoes are the favourite fruits and the poor take them with Chapati. Meat is a rare commodity in the villages available only at the most once a week and generally in the form of beef. On festivals and occasions of rejoicing, the favourite sweet dishes of the people of the area are 'Halva' Zarda' Firni' and vermicelli. In the Sadiqabad area, a favourite dish of the rich families is Sijji, a goat or lamb roasted in the oven or on fire.

1.11.3 Betrothal and Marriage

In an agrarian society, marriages are much awaited occasion. Despite the hurry and pace of life brought in by the modern times with their tractors and threshers, there is enough time in the villages to look forward to the occasion and make preparations for it months in advance. It is an occasion for pomp and show and ostentation of joy, of settling family feuds, of sowing seeds of new tensions in the social and family relations. A marriage in a village, besides involving the spread around family also involves the whole village including those who work and help in making arrangements for the big occasion also those who spend their energy in showing a forced, complete indifference to the affair in their midst. But real strings to the whole affair are held in the hands of the man or woman who moves between the two houses, those of the groom and the bride. Such men and women belong, usually to the families of the traditional barbers (Naais) who profess skills in many fields. They are barbers, expert cooks, glib talkers, excellent emissaries between families, messengers and crude surgeons as they perform their skill from ordinary sores to the mandatory circumcision. To such men and women is entrusted the task of approaching the family of the bride. This is the custom. The bride's parents are not supposed to broach the subject openly. If the suggestion ever comes from their side, it has to be extremely subtle. It is usually from the groom's house that the messenger-the-go-between sallies forth to represent the advantages, the benefits and the compatibility of the new link and relationship. Only when the traditional envoy, employing his or her artistry in the delicate job brings back the word of willingness from the bride's family, do the elders of groom's family step in and pay the formal visit. It is alter a series of such visits that an engagement (Mangani) is announced. On such an occasion, the visitors from the groom's family take sweets, golden ring, silk clothes for the bride and clothes and other presents for the other members. The acceptance of such gifts is a sign that the engagement has been made. In return a Lungi and a gold ring is presented for the groom from the bride's side. The elders of the two families sit together and pray for the prosperity of the new relationship and success of the marriage.

If from either side, there is a need for an immediate solemnisation, the engagement is sometimes accompanied by the Nikah ceremony, with all its formalities. The actual giving away (Rukhsati) of the bride is delayed for some later date. The sweets taken to the house of the bride is called Sheerini. On the conclusion of the Mangani or engagement, sweets are distributed. In the phase approaching the wedding ceremony, the groom is called Ghoat and the girl termed as Kanwar. A week or so before the marriage the girl is totally confined and a locally made cosmetic (paste) called Cheekoo or Ubton is applied to her body to brighten her complexion. In certain cases, this is sent by the groom alongwith seven fruits and Ghee. The Cheekoo is also utilized by the other ladies of the two families. As the date of the marriage approaches, colourful and melodious songs known as Sehras are sung by the relatives of the boy. However, rejoicing at the home of the bride is not appreciated. Her close friends, of course, cluster around her and create an atmosphere of joviality with their gestures and songs. On the night preceding the marriage, the palms of the bride and the groom are smeared with Mehndi (Henna) and feasts are arranged for the number of relatives who also by now, arrive at the two houses, especially that of the groom. The groom (Ghoat) wears a colourful thread on his left wrist with a small Potli (knot) containing an iron ring and six herbs called Ganna. An iron rod is also held by him to keep away evil spirits. On the wedding day before the Barat (marriage party) leaves for the bride's house, the groom is generally paid Nindra, in cash. He is not allowed to change his clothes as he is supposed to put on new clothes at the bride residence where the old clothes are handed over to the family barber. Barat is usually transported by bus, trollies, camels, carts etc., and in the traditional families, folk songs are sung and Jhumar is danced on way to the bride's house with the beat of Dhole (drum). On arrival of the Barat in the village, in case of old residents, a goat is demanded from the family of the groom and the ceremony is called Dheangen or Dheangana. They are usually obliged. Finally, the Barat is welcomed/ushered in and offered seats. After the Nikah ceremony, if it has not already taken place, the groom is made to sit on a basket made of Kana (straw) and he is given a bath (Khara) where after he wears new clothes offered by his in-laws. Oil and musk are applied on his head in a ceremony called, Tail Lagana (applying oil) and Vails (cash) are paid to the menials. Tail Legana also applies to the bride (Kanwar). The groom (Ghoat) is thereafter taken to the door of the bride's room and at this stage the sisters of the bride take a chance to play some lovely tricks with him and it is the duty of Sarbala (a close lieutenant) of the groom to defend him. One shoes of the groom are stolen by the girls and a piece of thread is revolved in a circle seven times around the thumb of his raised right hand and toe of the foot in circles in pursuance of a ceremony called Dawan Watra. For the return of the shoes, the groom has to pay a handsome amount to his sisters in law. The Sarbala generally does not perform his duty efficiently/deliberately and therefore, he usually becomes a laughing-stock. The groom is taken to a room and seated on a cot with the bride facing towards him. Among the locals, their heads are touched seven times in a ceremony called Lavan or Sarmail. Seven songs are sung in chorus and milk is served by the sisters in law to which the groom responds with some cash. Muth Kholai rite is also performed and the groom opens flat the palm of the girl where after he is obliged to make some payment. During the Arsi ceremony the couple is enabled to see each other in a mirror. In old clans, cotton is placed at the head of the groom and the bride removes it by picking it in seven attempts. After the Arsi the groom touches the feet of his father in law and other elders and for this gesture of obedience he is paid in cash. Doli (palanquin) is placed on Kachawa or car or a bullock cart. At this stage, emotional songs are sung by the family of the girl indicating the pathos in their hearts on the departure of the girl. Wedding gifts are also presented to the spouses by friends and relatives and Salami is paid in cash to the couple. The Siraiki people still perform the Rukhsati (departure) in a different manner. They place a saddle on the horse back and both the bride and the groom are seated on it. There they are tied with a Dupatta at their waists before the Barat departs for the groom's house. When the Barat arrives back, the bride shows its reluctance to enter the house of her in-laws and holds the door till she gets a present in cash or kind. Some rich families slaughter a goat at this stage as a gesture of alm (Sadqa) as sacrifice. The girl is also paid Mun Dakhai or Ghand Kholai i.e. face showing. In the late night the groom is let off by his friends and the couple allowed privacy in a decorated colourful room of the groom. Next day a Walima (feast) is held and the relatives of the boy and girl are invited on this feast. Walima denotes consummation of marriage. In certain places it is celebrated with colourful songs and dances. On the third day, or in certain cases on the seventh day in a Satwara ceremony, the bride along with her groom, returns to her parents for a couple of days.

Child marriage was common in the backward families especially amongst the locals. However, with the introduction of the Muslim Family Laws Ordinance, 1962 which prohibits it, it is somewhat discouraged. This custom was once very common as a result of the inhibition that the girls could not be married outside their families and also with a view to avoid the alienation of property. It is still practised in the rural areas and in spite of difference between the age of the bride and groom, they are tied up together. Such marriages are also the consequence of marriages in exchange or Watta-Satta. There is an agreement, called Lakhai Prahi, which is resorted to if the girl is a major and she is married to a boy without exchange but in turn the boy enters an agreement that on the event of birth of a daughter this new born baby would be betrothed to a male member of the mother's family.

1.11.4 Births

On the birth of a male child, sweet rice and milk are distributed in a ceremony called Chhatti. In most cases the child is named at this stage. The head of the child is shaven usually on seventh day or during the period of Chhillah and sacrifice of two goats in case of baby boy and a sheep or goat in case of baby girl is made in a ceremony called Aqiqa. The female relatives sing songs on a Dholik. In certain families the Jhand or shaving ceremony is not performed and it is put of for an occasion of subsequent visit to a Mazar (tomb) in a ceremony called Atta-Ghatta. Circumcision ceremony is also performed on the male infant at this stage. In certain cases meals are served to the relatives and presents received for the baby. The child's mother and father receive substantial presents in the form of clothes, cash and ornaments especially on the birth of a first male child. The mother during the first forty days, called the Rakh period, is made to avoid visits to a house where there has been a recent death.

1.11.5 Deaths

The dead body is given a bath (Ghusal) and is wrapped in a shroud (kafan). After the bath, perfume is sprayed on it and Namaz-e-Janaza is offered. After this, the dead body is laid down in prescribed position, its head turned towards the Holy Kaaba. Some families place dead bodies in wooden boxes before burial. The grave is then filled with the earth dug out of it. For identification purposes, an epitaph is erected at the head of the grave. Sometimes a pacca tomb is also built. After the burial, prayers are offered for the departed soul once near the grave and then again outside the graveyard.

After the funeral, the near relatives of the family or friends arrange meals for the bereaved family for three days and fire is not lit in the deceased's house for cooking purposes. The relatives and friends visit the house continuously for three days for Fateh Khawni and on the third day, Qulkhawani is held by recitation from Holy Quran and alms (Khairat) are distributed for the salvation of the deceased.

Chehlum is observed on fortieth day of death when new garments are given to the Imam of the mosque and to the person who bathed the dead body. In some families, on the death of an old man, the Chehlum ceremony is celebrated with a sumptuous feast for friends and relatives. Instead of Chehlum, certain families observe Jumarats and on every Thursday, meals are distributed amongst the poor, this continues for seven consecutive Thursdays. Every year, death anniversary is observed and food is distributed amongst the poor by the successors of the deceased. This rite is called Varheen. There is a custom amongst the Cholistanis known as Sat Roti. On the death of a respectable Cholistani, his heirs are obliged to offer one kilo of Desi ghee and seven breads to each and every person of the tribe when they turn up to offer condolence, spreading over a period of one year. On the expiry of one year, all the tribesmen assemble and are again served with meals by the heirs of the deceased. On that occasion, the most respected elder of the tribe declares the closure of the distribution of Sat Roti. A tale goes that a Cholistani Sardar died leaving behind a large number of cattle, sheep and goats and his heirs had to sell them off to observe the custom of Sat Roti and in consequence thereof, they had to resort to begging . The custom of Sat Roti is performed to satisfy the vanity of the deceased and his successors.

A very prominent feature of the area is that sub-soil water level on river side of main line of Pakistan Railways is generally sweet, but on the other side it is brackish. This fact had its repercussion on all the completed as well as proposed water projects in the area.

Since centuries in the past, the area adjoining through the river has been under plough by inundation canals commonly known as Khandar. Well irrigation was also practiced side by side and according to a rough estimate there were about 18,000 wells in the area. Since the year 1930 the whole area has come under a well controlled and well designed irrigation project of Punjnad Barrage which is the last unit of Satluj Valley Project due to which the area have gained a lot of agriculture potential. At present the area is inhabited by locals and settlers who have turned the sand dunes into flourishing fields with intensive irrigation through the mechanical farming which is gradually replacing the old methods of irrigation.

The proportion of infants and children under 15 years and population 65 and over were higher in rural areas when compared to population living in towns, resulting high dependency ratio in the former areas than in the latter areas representing 99.3 and 88.9 per cent respectively. The following table gives percentage of population by selective age groups, sex, urban and rural areas with more detail.

As envisaged from age pyramid the population of Rahim Yar Khan district is still very young having broad base implying thereby sustaining of fertility at a very high level. However comparison of age data with the 1981 Census indicates that fertility has started declining resulting reduction in percentage share of children under 5 though the effect of shifting of ages of children under 5, due to misreporting, can not be ruled out. The proportionate share of population declined gradually with advancing in ages and taper off to a narrow peak at age 75 and over.

POPULATION PYRAMID-1998

2.2.3 Marital Status

The population 15 years and above as enumerated in 1998 Census was further classified into never married, married, widowed and divorced. Of that population 27.4 per cent were never married, 66.7 per cent married, 5.6 per cent widowed and 0.2 per cent divorced. The percentage share of never married male was much higher than the female, being 33.2 and 21.1 per cent respectively. The percentage of never married females was higher in urban than in rural areas implying thereby that fertility must be at lower level in the former than the latter area. Table 2.6 gives details about percentage of population 15 years and above by marital status, sex and rural and urban residence, 1998.

TABLE 2.6 POPULATION PERCENTAGE DISTRIBUTION BY MARITAL STATUS, SEX AND RURAL/URBAN AREAS, 1998

Area	Never Married			Married			Widowed			Divorced

The proportion of never married females has increased since 1981 when it was 20.5 per cent. The increasing proportion is an indication of decline in fertility level which was sustaining at very high level for a long period.

2.2.4 Female of Reproductive Ages by Marital Status

Of the total females population 44.2 per cent are in reproductive ages i.e. 15-49 with slightly more percentage in urban than in rural areas, being 46.4 and 43.6 per cent respectively. As compared to 44.2 per cent of females of reproductive ages as registered in 1998 there were 43.8 per cent in 1981.

Among the females of reproductive ages 25.2 per cent were never married, 71.9 per cent currently married, 2.5 per cent widowed and 0.4 per cent divorced. About 9.5 per cent of ever married females of reproductive ages had no child, 10.4 per cent one child, 11.3 per cent two children, 11.4 per cent three children while 57.4 per cent had more than three children. The proportion of never married females of reproductive ages were high in urban as compared to rural areas.

2.3 LITERACY AND EDUCATIONAL ATTAINMENT

2.3.1 Literacy

A person was treated as literate in 1998 Census if he could read newspaper or a journal of same standard and could write a simple letter in any language. The literacy is measured as the ratio, in percentage, of literate population to corresponding population aged 10 and over. The literacy ratio in the district has increased from 20.0 per cent in 1981, to 33.1 per cent in 1998. The literacy ratio for males is 43.4 per cent as against 21.8 per cent for females. The ratio is much higher in urban when compared with rural areas both for male and female. Table 2.7 shows literacy ratio by rural and urban areas for the year 1981 and 1998.

TABLE 2.7 LITERACY RATIO BY SEX AND RURAL/URBAN AREAS, 1981 AND 1998

Urban	44.5	53.6	33.7	57.0	65.0	48.4

2.3.2 Educational Attainment

The percentage of educated persons, like literacy ratio, has also increased with almost similar pattern but with slightly lower level than level of literacy. Table 2.8 provides some facts by sex in urban and rural areas from the 1998 Census.

TABLE 2.8 EDUCATED PERSONS BY SEX AND RURAL/URBAN AREAS, 1998

Rural	26.6	37.6	14.6
Urban	56.7	64.7	48.1

2.3.3 Enrolment Ratio

Enrolment ratio is the proportion, in percentage, of students in population aged 5 to 24. The ratio was 27.0 per cent as measured from 1998 Census data with significant rural urban differential both for males and females. The remarkable differential is between females whose enrolment ratio in urban areas was registered as 50.1 per cent as against their ratio of 15.1 per cent in rural areas, and 31.4 per cent of male ratio in the district as a whole. Table 2.9 provides details by sex in urban and rural areas from the 1998 Census.

All Areas	27.0	31.4	22.2
Rural	20.9	26.1	15.1
Urban	51.6	53.0	50.1

2.3.4 Level of Education

Of the total educated persons 23.2 per cent were below primary, 32.7 per cent had passed primary, 20.3 per cent middle, 15.0 per cent matriculate, 4.6 per cent intermediate, 2.4 per cent graduates, 0.9 per cent post graduates while 0.3 per cent were diploma/certificate holders. Regarding sex differential males were more educated and had higher education than females. In urban areas of the district there were around 14 thousand graduates while in rural areas the level of education tapered off sharply with higher level of education and hardly 8 thousand were found with graduate degree.

2.4 MIGRATION

The total number of life time in-migrants in Rahim Yar Khan district were 153,034 or 4.9 per cent of population of the district. Of total life time in-migrants 62,956 persons settled in the towns. Of total district migrants 65.0 per cent came from other districts of Punjab, 14.1 per cent were from Sindh, NWFP and Balochistan, negligible cent from Azad Kashmir and Northern Areas while remaining 20.9 per cent were Pakistanis who repatriated from other countries. There is no migrant whose birth place is not reported. Table 2.6 throws light on life time in-migrants with their decomposition by place of origin, and place of settlement in rural and urban areas of the district.

2.5 ECONOMIC CHARACTERISTICS

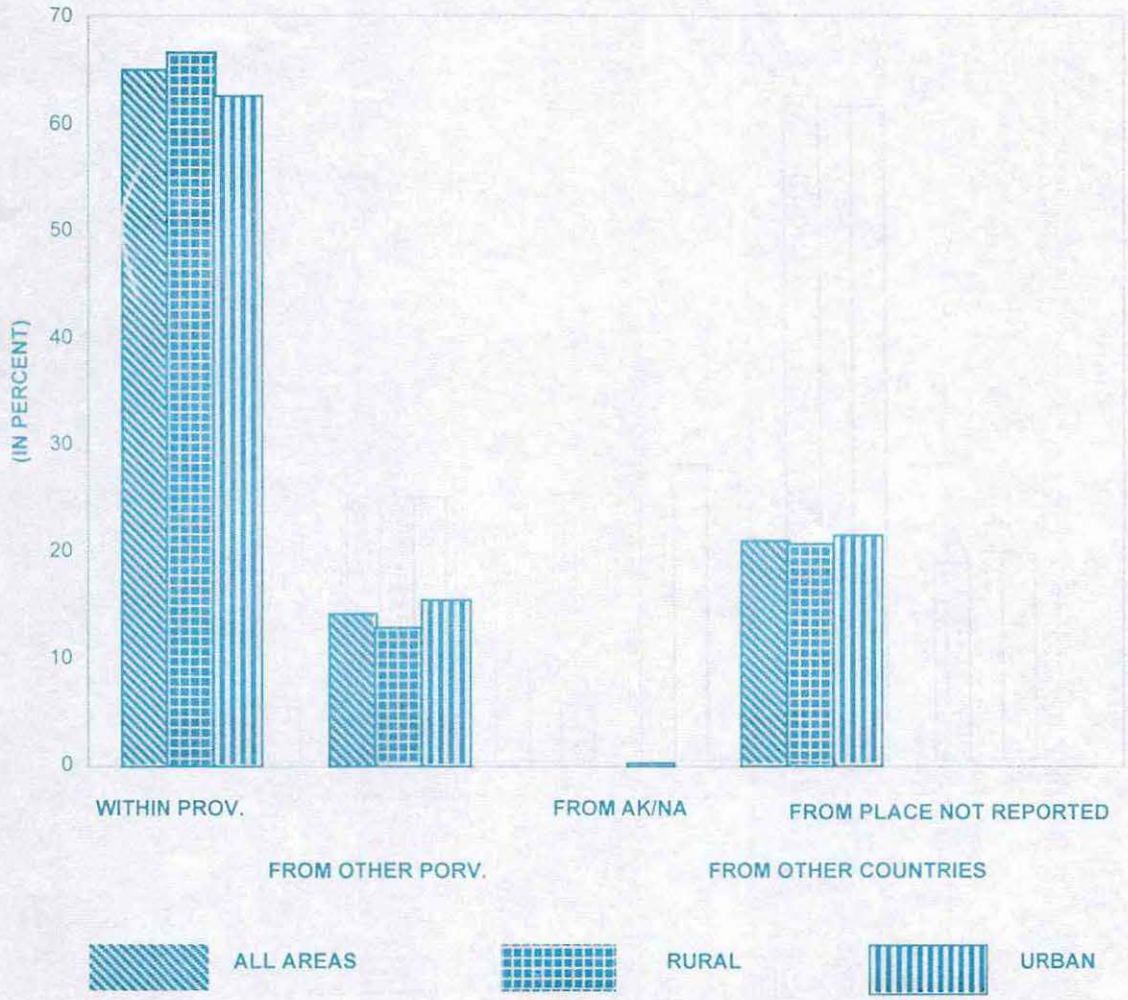

2.5.1 Economically Active Population

The economically active population is defined here as the persons working, most of the time during the year preceding the census date i.e. 5th March, 1998, looking for work, laid off and un-paid family helpers assisting their family. The economically active population as enumerated in the last census was 23.8 per cent of the total population or 35.7 per cent of the population 10 years and over i.e. the population exposed to the risk of entering the economically active life at any time. The formal percentage is known as Crude Activity Rate (CAR) while the latter is known as Refined Activity Rate (RAR). Of the total male population 44.3 per cent were economically active, while 55.7 per cent not economically active, 33.3 per cent children under 10 years, 10.1 per cent students, 1.3 per cent domestic workers while 10.9 per cent were land lords, property owners, retired persons, disabled etc. The participation rate is much higher in urban areas as compared to people living in rural areas. Further details can be seen in Table 2.11 given below:

2.5.2 Unemployment

Unemployment rate is measured as ratio of looking for work and laid off in total economically active population comprising employed, looking for work, laid off and un-paid family helpers, generally representing in percentage. The unemployment rate in the district was 18.9 per cent which was mainly due to unemployment amongst male representing 19.3 per cent. While female unemployment rate was just 6.2 per cent. This is because of their small proportion in their total economically active population. The unemployment rate higher in urban as compared to rural areas representing 20.2 and 18.6 per cent respectively. The details can be seen in Table 2.11.

2.5.3 Employed Population by Occupation

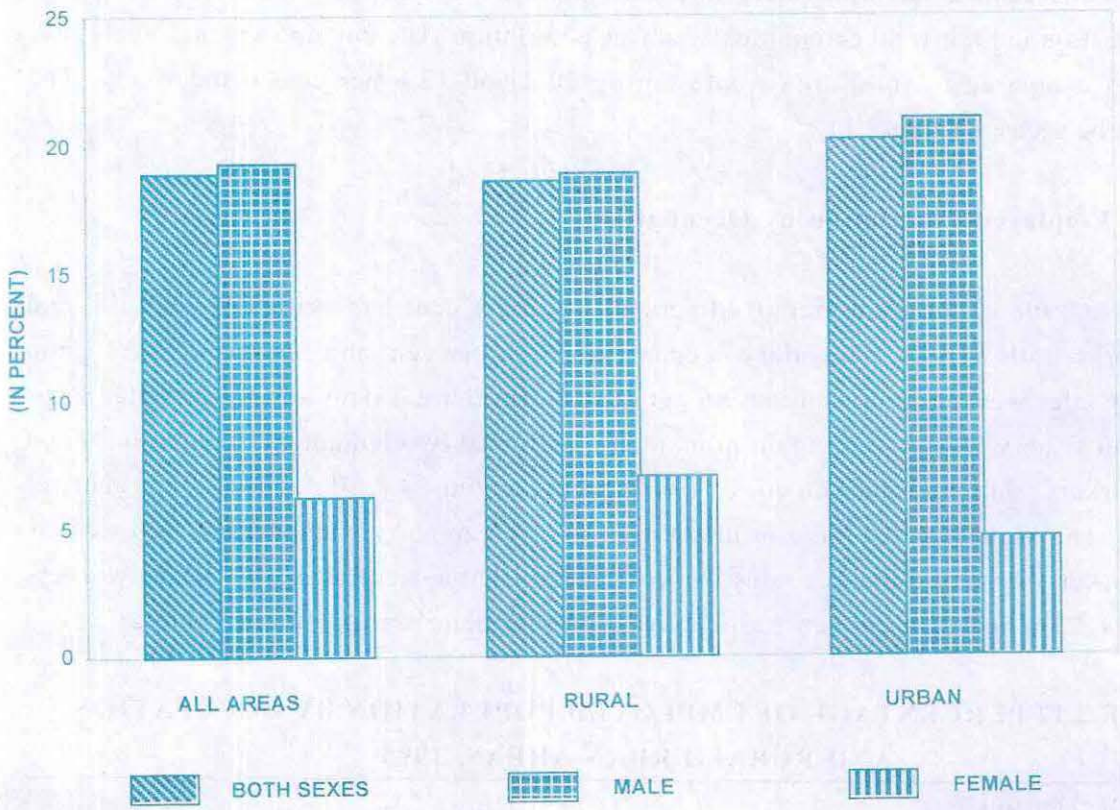

In 1998 of the total employed persons, 45.8 per cent had skilled agricultural and fishery works, followed by elementary occupations, 31.5 per cent and service workers, shop and market sales workers representing 9.6 per cent. In rural areas people having skilled agricultural and fishery works were again in majority, followed by elementary occupationss and service workers, shop and market sales workers, represented 53.3, 30.6 and 6.8 per cent respectively. The highest percentage in urban area is of elementary occupations, followed by service workers, shop and market sales workers and skilled agricultural and fishery workers having 35.4, 21.6 and 12.4 per cent respectively. Further details are given in Table 2.12.

In 1998 majority of employed persons was working in agriculture, forestry, hunting and fishing industries, followed by construction industries and community, social and personal services industries, representing 56.3, 17.6 and 14.2 per cent respectively. In rural areas 65.0 per cent were working in agriculture, forestry, hunting and fishing industries, community, social and personal services industries, 16.7 per cent in construction industries and 9.8 per cent in community, social and personal services industries. While in urban area majority was working in community, social and personal services industries, 33.4 per cent followed by, construction industries 21.3 per cent, and wholesale, retail trade and restaurants and hotels industries, 19.9 per cent of the employed population. Detailed data are shown in Table 2.13.

2.5.5 Employment Status

Of the total economically active population 93.8 per cent were registered as employed in 1998. Nearly three-fourths i.e. 64.7 per cent were self employed, 19.3 per cent private employees and 5.6 per cent government employees. Un-paid family helpers were recorded as 8.2 per cent. The difference in proportions of employed population were significant between the genders and urban and rural residences. The details can be seen in the table given below:

2.6 IMMUNIZATION

To evaluate vaccination programme the question about immunization of children under 10 years against 6 fatal diseases i.e. tuberculosis, diphtheria, pertussis, tetanus, polio and measles was first time enquired through the 1998 Census. As reported in the census over 6.9 lacs children were vaccinated representing 65.9 per cent of the total children under 10 years, 9.9 had not been vaccinated while nothing was known about 24.2 per cent children. Slightly better position for vaccination was reported in urban areas where incidence of vaccinated children was 72.7 per cent as compared to 64.4 per cent in rural areas. Slightly better rate of vaccination was observed for female children than male children. For further details data in Table 2.15 can be seen.

2.7 NATIONAL IDENTITY CARD

This question was also asked through the 1998 Census for the first time for evaluating National Registration Scheme introduced in 1973. Of population 18 years and above 60.6 per cent had obtained National Identity Cards and 39.4 had yet to obtain such cards. Male percentage is quite higher as compared to female for obtaining National Identity Card. Their percentage shares were 70.7 and 49.7 per cent respectively. Urban and rural differential was also reported in obtaining National Identity Cards. Nearly 71 per cent of people in the cities had obtained National Identity Cards while such percentage was 58 points in rural areas. However, details can be seen in the table given below:

2.8 HOMELESS POPULATION

In the entire district there were only 6,688 persons who had no shelters as reported in 1998 Census. Of these 93.0 per cent were Muslims with majority, 59.7 per cent, never married, 55.3 per cent males while 44.7 per cent females. Of total homeless people 20.3 per cent were in urban areas, 92.3 per cent Muslims. Nearly three-fifths of them were never married, 52.4 per cent males and 47.6 per cent females.

PART - III
BROAD ANALYSIS OF HOUSING CENSUS DATA

3 BROAD ANALYSIS OF HOUSING DATA

3.1 LEVEL OF CONGESTION

Level of congestion of housing units is determined in terms of persons per housing unit, or persons per room or rooms per housing unit.

The number of persons per housing unit has increased from 7.0 in 1980 to 7.5 in 1998 , implying thereby that houses have been congested with time because of slow tempo of construction and high growth rate of population observed during the last decade or so.

The persons per room has decreased from 3.9 in 1980 to 3.6 in 1998 due to increased number of rooms per housing unit from 1.8 to 2.1 during this period. In term of percentage housing units with one room only it has considerably decreased i.e. from 56.3 to 39.5 points while housing units with more than one room have increased from 43.7 in 1980 to 60.5 in 1998. The table given below provides comparative data on congestion from last two censuses.

TABLE 3.1 INDICES OF CONGESTION IN 1980 AND 1998

Index	1980	1998
Persons per Housing Unit	7.0	7.5
Persons Per Room	3.9	3.6
Rooms per Housing Unit	1.8	2.1
Housing Units with one Room (Percentage)	56.3	39.5
Housing Units with 2-4 rooms (Percentage)	40.9	54.3
Housing Units with 5 rooms and more (Percentage)	2.8	6.2

3.2 NATURE OF TENURE

Over 82.6 per cent of the housing units are owned, 4.1 per cent rented while remaining 13.3 per cent rent free. The percentage share of owned housing units has declined from 76.9 per cent since 1980 while rented units and rent free have increased from 4.0 and 19.1 per cent respectively. Regarding urban/rural differential, the percentage share of owned housing units are 76.4 and 84.2 while those of rented and rent free housing units are 15.4 and 1.3 and 8.2 and 14.5 per cent respectively. Table 3.2 gives detailed data on type of tenure with rural urban break up in 1980 and 1998.

TABLE 3.2 NATURE OF TENURE BY RURAL/URBAN AREAS, 1980 AND 1998

Tenure	All Areas		Rural		Urban

Rented	4.0	4.1	1.0	1.3	19.2	15.4
Rent Free	19.1	13.3	20.7	14.5	10.7	8.2

3.3 PERIOD OF CONSTRUCTION

There has been continuous sharp decline in construction of housing units during the last one decade or so. About 45.2 per cent of housing units were constructed at least 10 years ago, 29.6 per cent during 5 to 10 years before the 1998 Census taking, 24.2 per cent were constructed during 5 years preceding the census date and over 0.9 per cent were constructed during a year before census taking. Almost similar pattern is observed in urban and rural areas except slight variation in their percentage shares.

3.4 CONSTRUCTION MATERIAL OF OUTER WALLS

Baked bricks, cemented blocks and dressed stones were the main construction material used in construction of outer walls of the buildings. Around 52.0 per cent of such material were used while un-baked bricks, wood, bamboo and other materials were hardly used by 44.9 per cent of the housing units. Table 3.3 provides detail data on construction material used in outer walls with urban rural break up during 1998.

Others	1.2	1.3	0.4

3.5 CONSTRUCTION MATERIAL OF ROOFS

About 25.4 per cent of the housing units used reinforced cement concrete or bricks (RCC/RCB) as construction material in roofs of their buildings, 19.0 per cent housing units used cement or iron sheets and 40.2 per cent used wood/bamboo while remaining have used other construction material. Marked differences are observed in construction materials between urban and rural housing units though the wood/bamboo are the main material used rural and RCC/RBC in urban areas. There are 36.9 per cent housing units in urban area and 44.4 per cent in rural areas using such material.

3.6 SOURCE OF DRINKING WATER

Around 16.5 per cent of the housing units are using piped water, majority of which has that facility in their own houses. A majority is using hand pump for potable water 76.0 per cent. Just 1.4 per cent households are using potable water taken out from wells. Such facility is mostly being availed in rural areas where their percentage share is around 1.7. Table 3.5 provides details about the source of drinking water with rural and urban break up in 1998.

3.7 SOURCE OF LIGHTING

Predominant housing units are using electricity as source of light representing 52.9 per cent of the housing units. Kerosine oil is being used by approximately 45.8 per cent of the housing units while other sources of light like patromax, mustard oil etc. are hardly being used by 1.3 per cent of the housing units. Table 3.6 provides, in detail, percentage of housing units by source of light with urban and rural areas in 1998.

3.8 COOKING FUEL USED

About 83 per cent of housing units are using wood as cooking fuel in their houses while 9.2 per cent are using gas for this purpose. Hardly 7.6 per cent are using kerosine oil and other sources of cooking fuel in their houses. Regarding rural and urban differential wood is mainly used, representing 89.7 per cent in rural and 56.8 per cent in urban areas, followed by other material in rural areas and gas in urban areas representing 7.2 and 39.5 per cent housing units respectively. Table 3.7 indicates percentage housing units by source of cooking fuel with urban rural break up in 1998.

3.9 AVAILABILITY OF KITCHEN , BATHROOM AND LATRINE

Separate kitchen, bathroom and latrine are available in 16.4, 23.6 and 20.9 per cent of the housing units respectively. Shared kitchen, bathroom and latrine facilities are available in 6.2, 12.5 and 11.3 per cent of the housing units while remaining have no kitchen, bathroom and latrine facilities in their housing units. Significant differences are observed in rural and urban areas regarding such facilities. The percentage shares of separate kitchen, bathroom and latrine facilities are more in urban as compared to rural areas. While percentage shares of non-availability of kitchen, bathroom and latrine facilities are far higher in rural than urban areas which is the characteristic of villagers in developing countries like Pakistan. Table 3.8 gives details on availability of kitchen, bathroom and latrine facilities in housing units by urban and rural residence, 1998.

3.10 SOURCE OF INFORMATION

The question on source of information was asked for the first time in the 1998 Census. There were only three main sources of information enquired through the census. These were watching of T.V., listening to radio and reading of newspapers. Approximately 39 per cent of the households have access to television, radio or newspapers for keeping themselves informed about day to day happenings around them. Over all 78.3 per cent of the households have T.V facility. About 42.8 per cent of the residents are listening to radio. Nearly 36 per cent of people are reading daily newspapers. Table 3.9 provides further detail on percentage household by source of information at rural and urban residence in 1998.
